Malnutrition or rescued pets

We suggest doubling the suggested amount and continue for 2 months or longer (if finding worms in stool still) if you continue take (rest every fourth week)

GUT FLORA

Also make sure they are getting Colostrum (chewable tablets) twice a day to strengthen the gut and defense system. Adding Minerals and Vitamin c to daily meals. A home prepared diet is best (try to avoid artificial chemical foods, kibble is the worst's health offender for pets). If we support the gut and immune system, the pet will become less attractive for parasites to host in their intestinal tract.

INFECTION

Sometimes a pet needs a herbal antibiotic treatment to clear any underlying infections that are keeping them vulnerable to invasions of parasites and other infections.

VITAMIN C

Often rescue groups will put the stressed pet through vaccines and sterilization, and vitamin c will be severely depleted. Many skin issues start after one vaccinations. Joints also need vitamin C. Its important also provide vitamin C in daily meals ongoing.

When using chemical insecticide drugs and products a Dying parasites release their toxins such as ammonia.

However, this is rare when using herbal or homeopathic intestinal worming, as herbs dont kill worms but rather helps break down proteins and mucus surrounding parasites and expels them.

However, if you have already tried chemical insecticide wormers you could consider adding the Ornithine and Arginine are two natural amino acids that detox ammonia. It is important to take Ornithine and arginine together with the parasite cleanse.

They help the body free itself from excessive nitrogen. Further, they protect the liver from damage caused by medications and chemicals and stimulate the regeneration of the liver. They strengthen the immune defense by stimulating the production of more active and more effective WBCs. Arginine is also involved with hormone secretion and reduces tumor growth.

HOMEOPATHIC WORMER and or LungWorm prevention or solution.

As herbs have a strong smell and taste there is an alternative for "small animals" ie feline's who lick their food may be easier to give our "homeopathic worming" formula which is tasteless. "HAMPL ParaExpel" wormer.

Herba Worm is used to remove intestinal parasites by dislodging them from tissues and passing them out of the system. So don't be surprised to see live worms in stools.

Also helps to control fever, and can be used to help eradicate fleas and lice.

This unique blend of herbs is a vermifuge that will expel pinworms, tapeworms, and parasites, protect the stomach and aid indigestion.
